MACRO ANALYSIS

Indian rupee remains largely on negative end after October headline inflation touched to 6 years high of 7.61% as well as core inflation picked-up sharply. Apparently rate cut expectations is now ruled out but RBI's MPC still remains optimistic about the cool-off in inflation in coming quarters. We think losses in rupee may fade soon on expectations of capital flows in coming weeks.

Risk-off sentiment back on Thursday as Covid-19 cases surged, taking the shine off a vaccine-inspired equity market rally earlier in the week. US benchmark equity index fell over 1% while European and UK indices too face the heat as mentioned in FT.

Meanwhile, pound fell 1% across the board after data showed the UK's economic recovery was slowing despite huge government support programmes. UK gross domestic product grew by a lower than expected 1.1% in September from the previous month, following a 2.1% monthly gain in August. Despite weaker economic growth forecasts, we think last minutes surprises in Brexit deal may push pound higher in coming days.
